Objective

The huge variety of free-access digital resources that have become available in recent years now make them indispensable both to those who depend on free-access resources and those with access to commercial legal resources. This seminar will provide you with comprehensive legal research techniques, with an emphasis on AustLII, but also covering other key online free access resources.

CLE/CPD

This program will provide legal practitioners with six (6) points.

About AustLII

AustLII is Australia's largest and most-used online free-access public library for Australasian legal materials averaging over 600,000 hits daily. It has over 600 databases from all Australasian jurisdictions.

AustLII was established in 1995 by the Faculties of Law at UTS and UNSW, and is supported by the AustLII Foundation Ltd, a not for profit company with charitable deductible gift recipient tax status.
